

Privacy Policy
April 10, 2012

Your privacy is critically important to us.

At MyGet we have a few fundamental principles:

- We don't ask you for personal information unless we truly need it. (We can't stand services that ask you for things like your gender or income level for no apparent reason.)
- We don't share your personal information with anyone except to comply with the law, develop our products, or protect our rights.
- We don't store personal information on our servers unless required for the on-going operation of one of our services.
- In our blogging products, we aim to make it as simple as possible for you to control what's visible to the public, seen by search engines, kept private, and permanently deleted.

Below is our privacy policy which incorporates these goals. It is MyGet's policy to respect your privacy regarding any information we may collect while operating our websites. If you have questions about deleting or correcting your personal data, please contact our support team.

1. Website Visitors

Like most website operators, MyGet collects non-personally-identifying information of the sort that web browsers and servers typically make available, such as the browser type, language preference, referring site, and the date and time of each visitor request. MyGet's purpose in collecting non-personally identifying information is to better understand how MyGet's visitors use its website. From time to time, MyGet may release non-personally-identifying information in the aggregate, e.g., by publishing a report on trends in the usage of its website.

MyGet also collects potentially personally-identifying information like Internet Protocol (IP) addresses for logged in users and for users leaving comments on MyGet. Furthermore, MyGet is a context based service that provides you the information most suitable for the time and location that you are in, this implies that MyGet will track your location while using the web site. MyGet only discloses location information or logged in user and commenter IP addresses under the same circumstances that it uses and discloses personally-identifying information as described below.

2. Gathering of Personally-Identifying Information

Certain visitors to MyGet's websites choose to interact with MyGet in ways that require MyGet to gather personally-identifying information. The amount and type of information that MyGet gathers depends on the nature of the interaction. For example, we ask visitors who sign up for MyGet.org to provide an identifier from at least one social identity provider. Those who engage in transactions with MyGet are asked to provide additional information, including as necessary the personal and financial information required to process those transactions. In each case, MyGet collects such information only insofar as is necessary or appropriate to fulfill the purpose of the visitor's interaction with MyGet. MyGet does not disclose personally-identifying information other than as described below. And visitors can always refuse to supply personally-identifying information, with the caveat that it may prevent them from engaging in certain website-related activities.

3. Aggregate Statistics

MyGet may collect statistics about the behavior of visitors to its websites. For instance, MyGet may monitor the most popular feeds on the MyGet.org site. MyGet may display this information publicly or provide it to others. However, MyGet does not disclose personally-identifying information other than as described below.

4. Protection of Certain Personally-Identifying Information

MyGet discloses potentially personally-identifying and personally-identifying information only to those of its employees, contractors and affiliated organizations that (i) need to know that information in order to process it on MyGet's behalf or to provide services available at MyGet's websites, and (ii) that have agreed not to disclose it to others. Some of those employees, contractors and affiliated organizations may be located outside of your home country; by using MyGet's websites, you consent to the transfer of such information to them. MyGet will not rent or sell potentially personally-identifying and personally-identifying information to anyone. Other than to its employees, contractors and affiliated organizations, as described above, MyGet discloses potentially personally-identifying and personally-identifying information only in response to a subpoena or court order, or when MyGet believes in good faith that disclosure is reasonably necessary to protect the property or rights of MyGet, third parties or the public at large. If you are a registered user of the MyGet.org website and have supplied your email address, MyGet may occasionally send you an email to tell you about new features, solicit your feedback, or just keep you up to date with what's going on with MyGet and our products. We primarily use our various product blogs to communicate this type of information, so we expect to keep this type of email to a minimum. If you send us a request (for example via a support email or via one of our feedback mechanisms), we reserve the right to publish it in order to help us clarify or respond to your request or to help us support other users. MyGet takes all measures reasonably necessary to protect against the unauthorized access, use, alteration or destruction of potentially personally-identifying and personally-identifying information.

5. Cookies

A cookie is a string of information that a website stores on a visitor's computer, and that the visitor's browser provides to the website each time the visitor returns. MyGet.org uses cookies to help MyGet.org identify and track visitors, their usage of MyGet.org website, and their website access preferences. MyGet.org visitors who do not wish to have cookies placed on their computers should set their browsers to refuse cookies before using MyGet's websites, with the drawback that certain features of MyGet's websites may not function properly without the aid of cookies.

6. Advertisements

Ads appearing on any of our websites may be delivered to users by advertising partners, who may set cookies. These cookies allow the ad server to recognize your computer each time they send you an online advertisement to compile information about you or others who use your computer. This information allows ad networks to, among other things, deliver targeted advertisements that they believe will be of most interest to you. This Privacy Policy covers the use of cookies by MyGet.org and does not cover the use of cookies by any advertisers.

7. Privacy Policy Changes

Although most changes are likely to be minor, MyGet may change its Privacy Policy from time to time, and in MyGet's sole discretion. MyGet encourages visitors to frequently check this page for any changes to its Privacy Policy. If you have a MyGet.org account, you should also check your inbox for alerts to these changes. Your continued use of this site after any change in this Privacy Policy will constitute your acceptance of such change.

Our privacy policy is based on the Automattic.com privacy policy. They spent a lot of money and time on the below and made it available under a Creative Commons Sharealike license, so we didn't need to do the same.

*Latest update: April 10, 2012.